Project Abstract: The University of Montana and the Montana Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Commission are partners in a venture to create a national conference scheduled for May 28-30, 2003 on the UM Campus. In hosting this conference, we hope to spark a dynamic exchange of new thought on how American Indians and Euro-Americans view (and viewed) the Lewis and Clark Expedition and how the coming together of cultures has changed this nation. We will particularly seek the involvement of faculty and students from America's 33 tribal colleges as well as Native American studies departments at colleges and universities around the country.
Outcomes with completion dates (reports, publications, workshops, videos, etc.): A final report and a copy of the Proceedings will be sent to the funding agency at the conclusion of the project.
