

Figure 2. – Conceptual model of the determinants of channel form. Since dams change the flux of water and sediment, channel change typically is a result.

